Dr. Nelson Forster

Forster receives honor for best paper of 1998

by Jeffrey Pearce, Propulsion Directorate

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AFB, OHIO — Dr. Nelson Forster of the Propulsion Directorate's Lubrication Branch recently received the Alfred E. Hunt Award for best paper of 1998 from the Society of Tribologists and Lubrication Engineers (STLE).

He received this award at the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME)/STLE Joint Tribology Conference in Orlando, Florida.

This high honor recognized Forster's work in defining high temperature bearing materials and lubricants for vapor phase lubrication and for increasing basic mechanistic understanding of this new technology. @
